The Honorable

Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Bill:

IMDI Director Paul W. McCracken sounds the keynote theme for this year's Annual Meeting on Tuesday-Wednesday, December 7-8, in the State Department:

"The world economy is balanced on a knife-edge and could easily plunge into another era of international economic disintegration if we do not decide where we really want to go."

You are invited to join with us -- and with the speakers/discussion leaders listed on page one of the enclosed Annual Meeting agenda -- as we assess "U.S. Foreign Policy and Its Impact on International Business."

Discussion themes for the two-day session are listed on page two of the agenda:

1. Meeting the World Economic Crisis: What government and business can do together to restore confidence, competitiveness, and economic growth;
2. New Developments in U.S. foreign economic policy;
3. World Trade at the Crossroads: Spotlight on agriculture;
4. Crisis and Challenge: The corporate stake in shaping the international marketplace; and -
5. 1983 Outlook: Special briefing by The Christian Science Monitor.

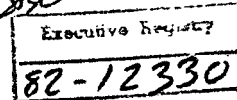

A registration card is enclosed for both the December 7 and 8 meetings. May we suggest that you mark these dates on your calendar and return the completed card at your early convenience.

As always, wives/husbands and special guests are cordially invited to join with us for Tuesday night's reception and dinner in the State Department. A superb news briefing by a top editorial team from The Christian Science Monitor is promised.

With best wishes.

Sincerely,

Gene E. Bradley
Chairman
